

WHAT THE CIRCUS
DOESN'T WANT
YOU
TO SEE

BEHIND THE SCENES

A lot happens at the circus. Animals spend their lives in cages, shackles, and chains. They're trained and controlled with bullhooks, whips, and electric prods. They lose their freedom, and sometimes they lose their lives.

In 1998 alone, Ringling Bros. has been responsible for the deaths of two endangered animals.

Kenny, a baby Asian elephant, died after Ringling Bros. forced him to perform while sick and crying.

And Arnie, an endangered Bengal tiger with Ringling Bros. Circus, was helpless in a cage when an irate trainer killed him with five blasts from a shotgun.

ENOUGH IS ENOUGH!

It's time to get animals out of the circus.

Join Rocky Mountain Animal Defense in a vigil for Kenny and Arnie at the Ringling Bros. show on Saturday, Oct. 10, 6:30pm at the Denver Coliseum.
